

The use of computer programmes for recording of the kinesiological development in children